

TURKEY WELFARE POLICY

Cranberry Foods Limited is committed to operating at standards which actively promote turkey welfare at all stages of the live bird production process. This commitment will be demonstrated by the provision of resource and facility for the following:

- * Ongoing training of all personnel given responsibility for Company livestock
- * Investment in housing and equipment
- * Adoption of improved husbandry practices when proven by research and practical experience

The Company will endeavour to operate husbandry practices which, so far as is reasonably practical, meet both the physiological and the behavioural needs of all company livestock, in provision of the following:

- * comfort and shelter
- * readily accessible fresh water and feed to maintain bird health and vigour
- * freedom of movement
- * company of like kind
- * opportunity to exercise normal patterns of behaviour
- * light and dark provision to enable normal cycles of activity and rest
- * rapid diagnosis and treatment of ill health, vice or infestation
- * avoidance of unnecessary mutilation
- * contingency plans in the event of essential systems failure

All employees, agents or suppliers of the Company, whose employment brings them into direct contact with Company livestock, are responsible for promoting and maintaining the welfare of such stock at all times.
